

The 20 Shows You Need to See during Armory Week

Feb 25, 2017

Armory Week may emphasize art fairs and events, but it's also an opportune time to take in the best of New York's gallery and museum exhibitions. From an in-depth look at Georgia O'Keeffe's finely crafted persona at the Brooklyn Museum to fresh figurative paintings by Sascha Braunig at Foxy Production to a new suite of Sterling Ruby ceramics at Gagosian, these 20 shows are not to be missed.

“A Bigger Splash: An exhibition by Yves Scherer with Markus Selg & Anahid Mishek” at Lyles & King

Feb. 19–Mar 19 • 106 Forsyth Street

In response to today's turbulent times, Scherer, Selg, and Mishek created a spiritual environment meant to instill in the viewer feelings of love and happiness. Initially, viewers come face to face with a regecting pool; further back, they are invited into a wooden shack to behold one of Scherer's sought-after sculptures of a nude Emma Watson, glowing purple in a box.
