Lady Gaga is known for her extravagant, flamboyant and colorful fashion statements. However, this Schott NYC Men’s Motorcycle jacket she’s helped design features a simple yet sophisticated cut that can be worn by everyday people.

The singer collaborated with artists Eli Sudbrack and Christophe Hamaide Pierson of AVAF to create this limited-edition leather jacket. The team partnered with Schott NYC, an established company that makes classic leather jackets.

The jacket retails for $675 USD and is available at Barney’s New York as part of the retail store’s “12 Days of Gaga” promotion. Barney’s has transformed its fifth floor retail space into the Gaga Workshop to celebrate this holiday season. Until 2 January, the pop-up store will feature limited-edition items including candy, toys, jewelry, fashion and accessories.
