

Fall Art Preview: 20 Museum Shows in Europe Everyone Should See

Tino Sehgal takes over Paris, Francis Bacon in Bilbao, and Robert Rauschenberg comes to London.

---

artnet News, August 30, 2016

The summer is over and the new art season is officially open, with a host of great exhibitions across Europe coming up to combat your post-vacation blues. The editors at artnet News have sourced out the most exciting, long-awaited, and thought-provoking exhibitions this fall, with performance and dance featured ever more prominently in major institutions.

Donna Huanca Muscle Memory (2015). Photo Peres Projects, Berlin.

13. “Annual Commission: Donna Huanca” at the Zabludowicz Collection, London, September 29 – November 30.

Donna Huanca will have her first UK solo show at the Zabludowicz collection in North London—the institution’s first show dedicated to performance art—as part of their annual commission, which last year resulted in a highly popular John Rafman exhibition.

Huanca’s work is concerned with the human body and the skin that covers it; for her slowly unraveling pieces, she uses live models painted and draped in fabric alongside sculpture and painting. For this exhibition, Huanca has designed a three story glass structure to fill the high, open ground-floor exhibition space at the Zabludowicz Collection. The structure will function as a performance space for the live models in the show. Huanca has also created sound works and sculptures which will be installed around the structure; the sound works will respond to the movements of the models within the space. Amah-Rose Abrams