Richard Kennedy

The Berlin-based artist artist Richard Kennedy is showing a silver-covered booth at the Peres Projects booth at the Independent art fair. The new work has got a sassy title: “You Can’t have no BBQ sauce unless you get some chicken McNuggets.” Mmm hmm. A series of large-scale paintings are on view alongside a video entitled “Operas Without an Audience,” which ties together choreography, experimental dance, colorful costumes and attitude. This comes ahead of the artist’s forthcoming exhibition at Palais de Tokyo in Paris and his first opera, “Black Rage,” opening at the Zabłudowicz Collection in London.
